The damage by the frost of the 21st ult. was more considerable than at first supposed. But a small percentage of corn had been cut up, and the fodder is nearly worthless. There will be much soft corn this year, also.

Our Gobleville correspondent this week demonstrates that he is no slouch of a news-gatherer. Forty crisp, fresh news items from a town of that size is a good yield. "Sockery" doesn't allow anything to get away from him.

Joe Sage has leased and opened the Willard House barn as a sale and feed stable. Those who know Mr. Sage need not be told that he will keep a place where horses will be well taken care of and where their owners will be well treated.

Mr. Woodman's exhibit of grains and grasses was shipped from Grand Rapids to Hillsdale, where it will be on exhibition at that county fair this week. This exhibit attracts much attention wherever shown, and Mr. Woodman is besieged with applications from directors of fairs at various places to come to them, but he thinks that perhaps this week will close the season with him.

Rev. W. J. Hathaway and wife returned home last Thursday, and on Sunday Mr. Hathaway entered upon the second year of his ministry in the M. E. church here. His return to this people gives the utmost satisfaction, not alone to his immediate parishioners, but to the people of Paw Paw generally, who hold the reverend gentleman and his estimable wife in very high esteem.

The M. C. R. R. freight conductors are no respecters of person or rank, and they would stop a train to "fire" a high sheriff, if he was not armed and equipped with a freight train permit, as quickly as they would a common mortal. Indeed, it is said such an occurrence actually happened between Decatur and Lawton but a few days ago. These fellows, if they don't know what belongs to the dignity of exalted position, should be taught it.

During the recent reunion of the Van Buren veteran battalion, at Hartford, an organization was perfected which is to be known as the "Van Buren county Regiment, Sons of Veterans." The regiment will meet at the same time and place as the veteran battalion. The following officers were chosen for the current year: Colonel, Chas. Mortimer, of Hartford; Lt.-Col., Geo. Hale, of Covert; Major, Russell Merriman, of Bangor; Adj't., Earl Hemenway, of Hartford; Chaplain, Daniel Pool, of Lawrence; Surgeon, Herick Hodges, of So. Haven; Q'r-Mr., Jacob Thomas, of Hartford.

The NORTHERNER would respectfully call the attention of the village marshal, or any other officer who may happen to be around, to a gang of young hoodlums who congregate on the corners near the postoffice every evening, jeering at and insulting every passer-by and making the night hideous with their brawling and howling. The writer heard a lady remark a day or two since that she would not dare to pass that corner unattended after eight o'clock, and even if she were attended she must hear a perfect shower of insulting and obscene remarks. Let a half dozen of the leaders of this gang be locked up and fined roundly, and the nuisance will be abated.

The state board of health publish the following list of health officers of the several villages and townships of this county: Village health officers--J. M. Gray, Breedsville; Geo. W. Hulbert; Covert, Dr. O. M. Vaughan; Decatur, G. W. Mahoney; Geneva, Dr. Valentine Bennett; Hamilton, Jas. E. Maxwell; Hartford, Dr. H. C. Maynard; Keeler, Dr. C. R. Dewey; Lawrence, Dr. A. S. Haskins; Paw Paw, Dr. C. S. Maynard; Pine Grove, Dr. C. W. Huff; Porter, Dennison Cornish; South Haven, Dr. C. A. Dean.

It must have been an entertaining sight to the funny tribe, especially to that class denominated as suckers, to have seen those two well-up-in-the-world (6 ft. 2) sports last Thursday wading the river in their endeavors to get back to the starting point of their day's hunting excursion. One was equipped with high rubber boots and did fairly well, only shipping a sea now and then. The other, having on a pair of peach-basket shoes, thought it a matter of prudence to "strip for the fray," which he did, even down to an abbreviated flannel intimate garment, which was rendered more abbreviated and more intimate by its contact with the water. But the passage of the turbulent Paw Paw was finally accomplished and the nimrods found themselves at Allen's marsh, only about two miles from the spot where their horse was impatiently awaiting them. Fred says it will be a Col(e)d day when he repeats that experience.

McCabe--Breck.
St. Mark's Episcopal church was crowded to the doors Monday evening last with friends to witness the ceremony that would join together, forever and aye, two loving hearts.
Promptly at 8 o'clock the sweet strains of the wedding march from Midsommer Night's Dream filled the church with its beautiful harmonies, and the Rev. R. E. Jones advanced into the chancel from the vestry, followed by John I. Breck, the groom, and W. R. Sellick, his best man. Miss Nina Leah McCabe, the bride, supported by Miss Jessie Chapin and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McCabe, father and mother of the bride, proceeded down the aisle and were met at the front of the chancel by the groom, and then, by the beautiful service of the Episcopal church, two of Paw Paw's most popular people were made one in the sight of all men.

The bride wore a beautiful olive green silk, and the bridesmaid was very sweet in a handsome blue Henrietta. The groom and groomsmen wore the regulation black.
It was an occasion long to be remembered, both for the beautiful service and the many sweet recollections it called to the minds of those present. H. D. Longwell, Roscoe Broughton, Will Bryar and J. E. Chandler were the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Breck left immediately after the ceremony for Grand Rapids, Lansing, Jackson, and Battle Creek, where they will visit friends for a few days, when they will return to Paw Paw and will be at home after Oct. 15th. The TRUE NORTHERNER extends its warmest congratulations to the newly wedded couple.
